Miss Suzanne Kihlmire is Miss Saline County of 1956.

The climax of the 8th annual Saline County Beauty Contest, staged by the Harrisburg Jaycees at Thursday night's session of the Saline County Fair, came about 10 p. m. with the announcement that Miss Kihlmire had been selected by the panel of three judges as Miss Saline County.

Tom Davenport, president of the Jaycees, presented Miss Kihlmire with the huge loving cup and Miss Janice Harrawood, Miss Saline County of 1955, placed the crown on Queen Suzanne's head.

Prior to announcing the winner, trophies had been presented to Miss Janice Stiff, Harrisburg, as winner of second place and to Miss Brenda Heatherly, RFD 2, Harrisburg, winner of third place.

Antique Auto Show

Queen Suzanne, a graduate of the HTHS with the class of 1956, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kihlmire, 511 North Main street. Mr. Kihlmire is with the U. S. Forest service. Suzie was sponsored in the Beauty contest by the Fashion Palace.

There was a full program last night, including the presentation of trophies to the grand champion beef and dairy cattle, the Beauty Contest and an Antique Auto show.

More than twenty old time autos from Henderson, Ky., Evansville, Ind., Carmi and Fairfield, took part in the parade of gas buggies of days gone by.

An added attraction to the auto show was a calliope, mounted on the back of a half-ton truck. This "circus piano" was played by Eddie Miller, formerly of Harrisburg, now a resident of Evansville. The calliope is owned by Walter P. Fuchs, president of the Evansville

Big Car Racing Tonight to Close County Fair

Big car automobile racing will close out the 50th annual Saline County Fair this evening.

The racing program, sanctioned by the Mississippi Valley Championship Circuit of Racing, promises to bring the fair to a thrilling climax.

Flashing speed and brilliant driving will be the order of the night as top racing drivers of the midwest compete for glory and cash.

Seven speedway type events on the half mile dirt track are on the schedule, with time trials to start at 7 p. m. and racing an hour later.

Promoter of the program stated this morning there would be a full field of cars on hand to give the fans a fine evening of speed and thrills. Two top notch drivers registered only yesterday for the event, it was stated. Latest entrants are Bob Wente, St. Louis, who will drive a brand new car powered by an overhead valve V-8 Mercury engine and Herbie Shannon of Peoria, driving his Pepsi Cola Special, powered by a V-8 Mercury engine.

The track, already in good shape, was being worked today under the watchful eye of a representative of the Mississippi Valley Championship Circuit of Racing.

"We expect the track to be very fast. At least one driver should complete the half mile in 26 seconds flat. That is almost a full second faster than the track record," the promoter declared.

Carmi Church Wall Collapses

Wednesday night's heavy rainfall was responsible for the collapse of one wall and damage to another of the new Southern Illinois Revival and Missionary Center in Carmi.

The building has been under construction the past eight weeks. Rev. John Cody, pastor of the church, stated Thursday morning that another two weeks would have seen the completion of the project.

The damages have been estimated at approximately $1,500 for materials alone. Rev. Cody and members of his congregation have been doing a great deal of the construction work themselves on the concrete block structure.

The left wall collapsed after a blinding rainstorm had pelted down on the structure for 30 minutes. Many of the concrete blocks were broken as the wall fell. Some can still be used. The back wall is still standing, but it is feared that it will have to be torn down and rebuilt, according to Rev. Cody.

Eugene Vineyard yesterday was sentenced to a year on the state farm at Vandalia when arraigned before County Judge Trafton Dennis on a charge of driving while drunk. Vineyard also did not have a driver's license.

The local man was arrested Wednesday night at Carrier Mills by Police Chief Bill Murphy and turned over to Saline county authorities.

President Signs Health Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Thursday signed a catch-all health bill aimed at reducing shortages of nurses and health facilities and improving mental health care.

The bill authorizes federal grants to state mental institutions for research and training projects to develop better care for the mentally ill. Cost of the project the first year is estimated at 1 1/2 million dollars.

The bill also authorizes first year grants totaling two million dollars to nursing schools for advanced training of professional nurses for teaching or supervisory work. It calls for about one million on the first year to finance advanced training in public health for graduates for schools of medicine, dentistry, engineering or nursing.

Grants limited to five million dollars annually for a five-year period are authorized to states for training of practical nurses.

McKeon Case is Turned Over to Jury of Officers

Study Fate of Marine Sergeant In Training Deaths

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—The case of S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon was turned over to a jury of seven combat officers today to decide whether he is guilty of manslaughter or the victim of an "unfortunate accident" in the death march drowning of six recruits.

The most celebrated military trial since that of Billy Mitchell was placed in the hands of the court at 10:39 a. m. CST toward the end of the third week of the court-martial.

McKeon, 31, the former junior drill instructor from Worcester, Mass., who led a recruit platoon last April 8 on a night march into a tidal creek in which six recruits drowned was calm and impassive at the climax.

He is charged with manslaughter, oppression of troops and drinking in the presence of enlisted men. His defense contends he was merely carrying out Leatherneck tradition in leading his "laggard" platoon on a grueling night training march into the swamps of Parris Island.

Anger or Discipline

McKeon's best defense witness was Lt. Gen. Lewis B. (Chesty) Puller who called the tragedy an "unfortunate accident" but he defended the sergeant with all his strength for the type of training he was giving his platoon.

The law officer, Navy Capt. Irving N. Klein, told the court to "reach your findings according to the law, the evidence in court, and your own conscience."

Thus, the fate of the sergeant who says he was only trying to teach the recruits the discipline necessary for combat when he ordered the march, was placed in the hands of a Marine colonel, three lieutenant colonels, two majors, and one Navy lieutenant.

Offices of Doctor, Dentist at Eldorado Entered, Ransacked

The building and rooms in Eldorado occupied by Dr. Dale Cavaness, physician and surgeon, and Dr. J. C. Brenner, dentist, were entered and ransacked during the night by burglars but investigation this morning revealed nothing was missing.

Officers who investigated were Sheriff William T. Barrett, Chief Deputy Everett N. Sneed and Eldorado Police Chief James Johnson.

They reported that the burglars pried open a back door, then took a door off its hinges that led into Dr. Brenner's office. From there they went into Dr. Cavaness' office.

U. S. Can Beat Russia in Race for Better Aircraft, Gen. Twining Says

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, said today the United States can beat Russia in the technological race for faster and better aircraft "if we continue the programs we are now planning."

Twining talked to some 3,000 delegates to the Air Force Association's 10th anniversary convention in his first major address since returning from a tour of Russia where he viewed Soviet air might.

He said Russia is giving its technical and scientific men many incentives and "we are challenged now as we have never been in the past."

"I feel that the Soviets are capable of tremendous growth and advancement," Twining said. "They are moving forward across a broad technological front."

But Twining has confidence in the United States' ability to meet the Soviets' challenge.

"If we continue the air programs we are now planning we will not lose our air lead to the Soviets," he said.

Twining said that Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson "now has a committee studying the problem of retaining skilled technicians, and we are looking forward to the issuance of this committee's report."

Disclose Hodge Used Thousands In State Funds for Personal Bills

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — A prosecutor disclosed today that ex-State Auditor Orville E. Hodge used thousands of dollars of state money to pay for his personal phone bills, floral gifts, maintenance of his two private airplanes and entertainment.

Hodge, meanwhile, was reported to have been treated by a physician at his Lake Springfield home Thursday night. The physician's office reported the doctor would be in surgery most of the day and was unavailable to comment on a report that he administered sedatives to Hodge.

Asst. State's Atty. J. Waldo Ackerman Jr. said Hodge used a total of $1,532 in state money between June, 1955 and June, 1956, to pay for personal long distance phone calls to such places as his Granite City home, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where he owns a hotel, Washington, and Miami.

Ackerman said the bill included about 500 telephone calls. Hodge also spent $15,522 in state funds for maintenance of two personal airplanes. Ackerman said Hodge spent a total of $83,000 to buy three planes at various times, but it was not known whether this money came from state funds.

Ackerman said Hodge sent more than $1,000 worth of flowers to friends and business associates. He said the disgraced state auditor also charged a $825 lunch at Chicago's plush Ambassador Hotel to the state. Hodge gave the lunch for wives of a national bankers association.

The far-reaching state check scheme attributed to Orville E. Hodge, resigned auditor, also brought the resignation of John E. Sullivan. Sullivan was a top aide of Herbert C. Paschen, Democratic candidate for governor.

Sullivan quit as chief deputy in Paschen's Cook County treasurer's office following reports that Sullivan was closely connected with banks involved in the Hodge case.

Federal tax agents, meanwhile, began looking into the affairs of a group of Chicago politicians known as the West Side Bloc. A number of the men have been revealed as friends of the former auditor.

John B. Stoddard Jr., U. S. attorney at Springfield, Ill., said the agents will investigate the possibility that the politicians received some of the money Hodge is charged with embezzling from state funds.

Thompsonville Man is Robbed in Front of His Home

Saline and Franklin county officers and a number of state policemen last night joined in a hunt for men who held up and robbed "Shorty" Burlison of $83 in front of his home at Thompsonville early last night.

Burlison, who lives on a dead end street on the southeastern edge of town, was called out of his house to an automobile and there a man stuck a pistol in his chest, telling him it was a holdup. A second man searched him and relieved him of the money, which came from a payroll check cashed yesterday.

Burlison, who described the men as one being tall and smooth shaven and the other about 5-6 or 5-7, said there appeared to be two more in the back seat. They escaped in a large black car, he stated.

He also said that his wife saw what was happening and started out of the house yelling, but for the sake of safety he ordered her to get back inside.

The holdup men appeared to be drinking, Burlison said.

Eisenhower to Present Sec'y Over TV, Radio

Dulles is Hopeful Of Settlement at 24-Nation Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will present Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on radio and television tonight for a report on the Suez Canal crisis.

Dulles returned today from a three-power London conference on the crisis and said he is hopeful of a solution that will avert "violence."

The President decided to put the secretary on the air at 5 p. m. CST. He will introduce Dulles himself.

In London, Dulles and the French and British foreign ministers invited 24 nations, including Russia and Egypt, to attend a conference Aug. 16 on internationalization of the vital waterway.

The crisis, caused by Egypt's seizure of Suez, has reached "dangerous" proportions, Dulles said. Britain and France are rushing plans for an expeditionary force if international diplomacy fails.

Meets Here Today

But Dulles said the Big Three foreign ministers do "not want to meet violence with violence."

Dulles was scheduled to report to the President at 12:30 p. m. CST. The White House announced meanwhile that Dulles will speak tonight from the President's office in the White House.

Dulles told newsmen at the airport that he is counting on the London conference to produce a Suez settlement which all nations, including Egypt, "will respect."

Dulles described as "dangerous" the international situation which arose when Egypt "suddenly and arbitrarily" seized the canal in a nationalization move.

Russia Opposes Force

Dulles voiced his hope for a peaceful settlement as:

1. Cairo dispatches indicated Egypt would not attend the London conference or submit to internationalization of the canal.

2. Britain and France rushed plans for an expeditionary force should diplomacy fail. In Paris, Premier Guy Mollet said France and her allies will "impose" their decisions on Egypt. He apparently referred to possible military measures.

3. Russia, through the official Communist newspaper Pravda, warned against Allied use of force. Pravda said "There is nothing to justify military measures."

4. Indications were many of the 24 nations invited to the Aug. 16 conference, including Russia, will attend. Norway was the first to accept.

5. In Washington President Eisenhower discussed the Suez crisis for 45 minutes with Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies. It was Mr. Eisenhower who ordered Dulles to London.

British, French Meet

Dulles read a prepared statement to newsmen after he alighted from his plane and was greeted by high officials including the British and French ambassadors.

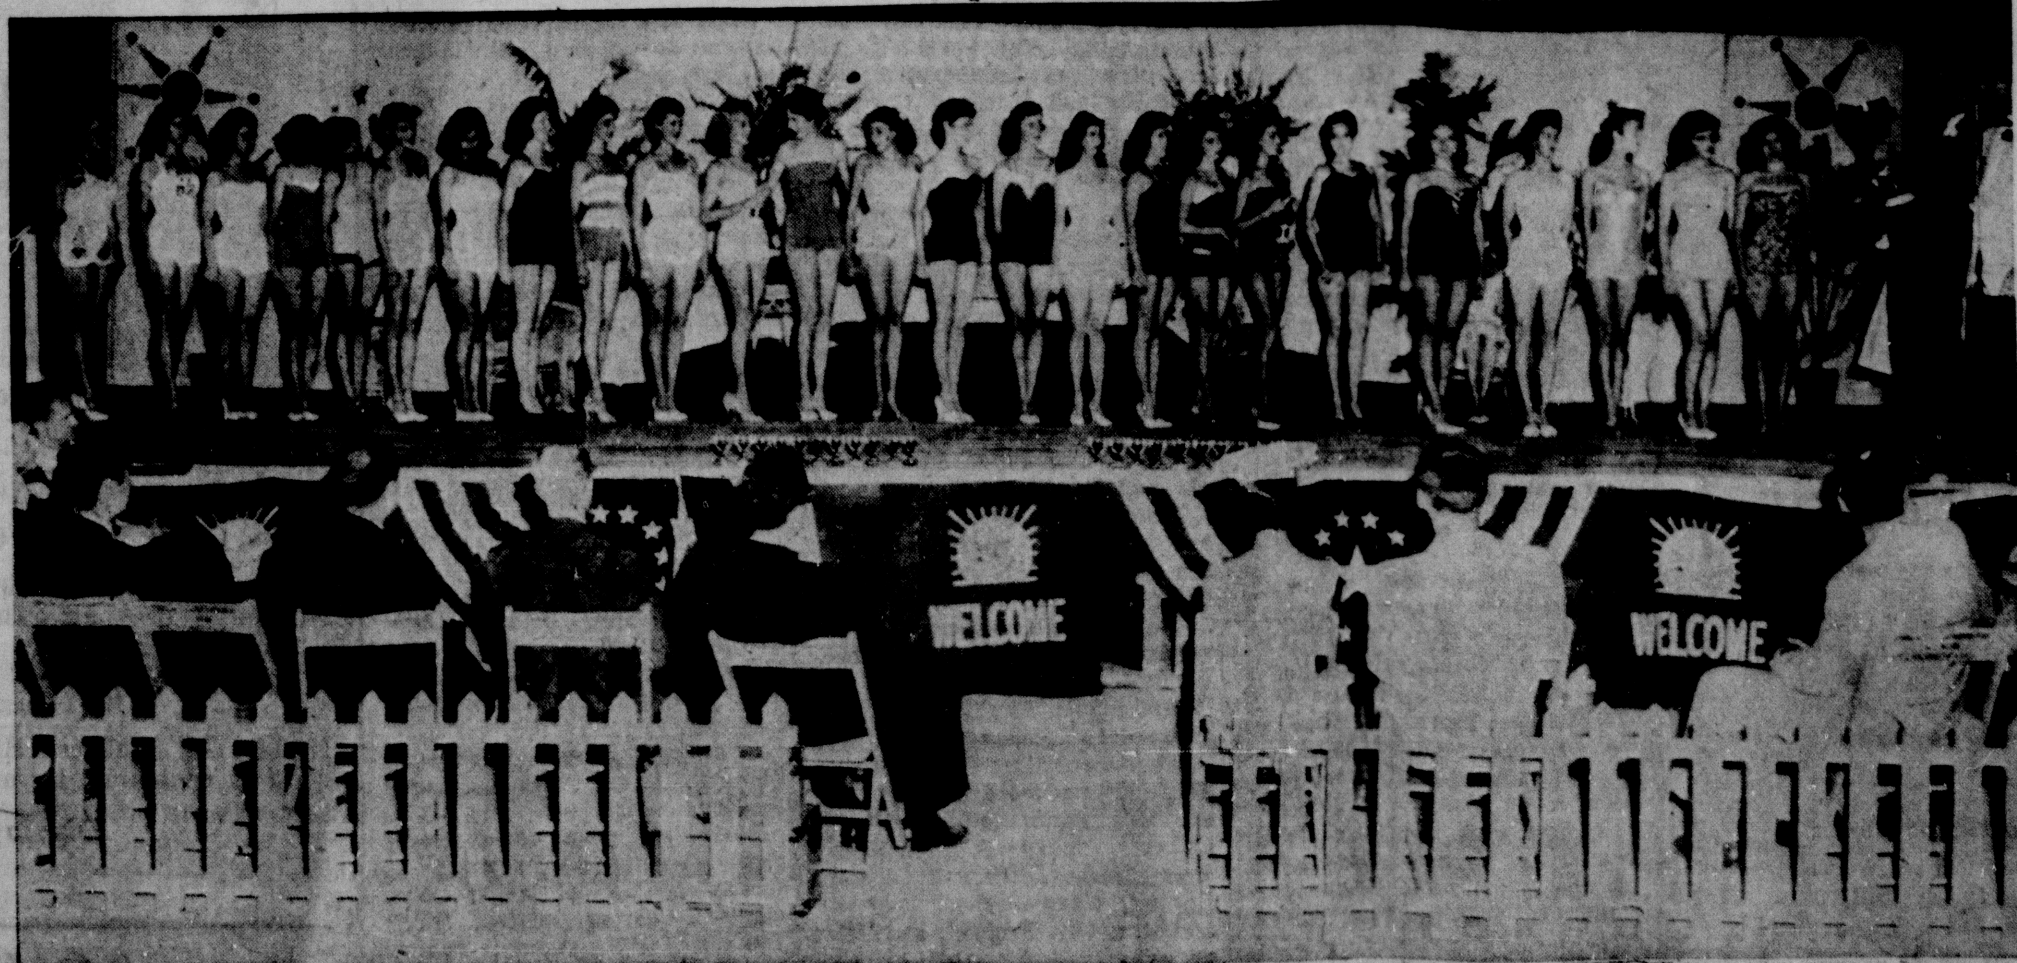

Dispatches from Cairo gave the strongest indication Egypt would refuse to attend on the ground that it could never agree to international control of the canal. No official reply had yet been received, but the Cairo press bitterly condemned the Western plan.

British Prime Minister Anthony Eden met with his cabinet and his military leaders to discuss the huge peace-time military buildup and the forthcoming diplomatic conference. The French cabinet met in extraordinary session to approve emergency moves.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Kefauver Searched His Soul Before Withdrawing; His Top Campaign Managers Were Admired That He Quit; U. S. Got Poor Advice On President Nasser.

WASHINGTON. — Estes Kefauver's decision to withdraw in favor of Adlai Stevenson came only after much soul-searching and a hot all-day session with his cohorts who came to Washington from all over the U. S. A.

For some time, his two top campaign managers, Jiggs Donohue, former D. C. commissioner and Howard McGrath, former attorney general, were adamant that he withdraw. He faced a $40,000 campaign deficit from his California-Florida primaries, plus a $25,000 expense for maintaining headquarters in Chicago. But before he made a decision, Kefauver asked the leaders who had been most loyal to meet in a confidential session in Washington.

The reaction was mixed. Some almost wept. Some advised him to support Stevenson. Some urged that he make a deal with New York's Governor Harriman. Some urged that he fight to the bitter end.

"I'm for my country first, my party second, and the candidate third," said Clara Shipper, lady leader of Kefauver forces in San Francisco. She proposed that Kefauver withdraw.

"We have a great man, a great leader," said Gerald Flynn of Racine, Wis. "It's an honor to go down fighting for him. When Kefauver went down fighting under the TV cameras in Chicago in 1952 that was when the Democratic party lost an election."

Joe Alpers, the Los Angeles stainless steel manufacturer, however, moved that Kefauver withdraw. Maryland leaders urged the same thing. So did Kefauver's friends in Virginia, as well as Tom Carroll, his California chairman.

ELOQUENT PLEAS

One of the most eloquent pleas for Kefauver to stay in the race came from Col. William A. Roberts, Washington attorney who had the tough job of raising money for the Tennessee senator's deficit.

Another came from De Silva of the Retail Clerks union who largely carried the ball for Kefauver in southern California.

"I'm going to talk just as if I was the candidate," he told Kefauver advisers in the closed-door session. "Now let's see what I've got to gain or lose."

"First the organization of the convention will be against me. They'll probably put my delegates off in a corner behind a pole."

"Second, the ushers and doorkeepers will push my delegates around. You know how the Arvey boys told us where to go and when to come last time to Chicago."

"Third, Sam Rayburn will be working against me on the stage. He'll never recognize me," continued De Silva, still talking as if he were the candidate.

"Fourth, Senator Lyndon Johnson will be working against me backstage, while Rayburn works against me on the stage."

"Finally, the Harriman boom has slowed down to a bust."

WHERE DO NEGROES STAND?

"However," continued De Silva, now speaking for himself, not as if he were a candidate, "I still think Harriman and Kefauver ought to come out for a declaration of principle on civil rights. Let's call a spade a spade. Let the Negro people face the civil rights issue. We know the professional Negro politicians don't want civil rights passed. They won't have an issue after that. So let 'em stand up and be counted—for or against a real declaration of principle. Let's separate the men from the boys. Let Adlai stand up and declare himself, too. Is he for or against real enforcement of civil rights? He hasn't stood up so far."

"A man is never defeated when he goes down fighting," concluded the fiery labor leader from Los Angeles, "and I came here to fight, not to bury Kefauver."

Despite this plea, a heavy majority of Kefauver advisers at the closed door session urged that he withdraw in favor of Stevenson for the sake of Democratic harmony. He concurred in their advice.

Note — When Kefauver was urged to make a deal with Averell Harriman, he told his advisers: "I've got a lot of respect for a man who gets into the primaries and fights it out as Adlai did. I couldn't gang up to throw the nomination to someone who didn't get into the primaries and make the race according to American tradition."

RAD ADVICE ON NASSER

For approximately 12 months, the State Department has been almost consistently wrong about Egypt's dictator, Colonel Nasser. This was largely because U. S. Ambassador Henry Byroade was sold on Nasser, said that he could be trusted as a real friend of the U. S. A.

It was also because Herbert Hoover Jr., former vice-president of the Union Oil Company of California, now undersecretary of state, was vigorously pro-Arab, wanted to protect U. S. oil rights in Saudi Arabia regardless of appeasement and regardless of American interest in Israel.

However, there were differences of opinion inside the State Department. George Allen, assistant secretary of state for the Near East and one of the ablest career diplomats, didn't trust Nasser, argued against Ambassador Byroade's judgment. He and Byroade were almost continually in each other's hair.

Allen argued so consistently against Nasser that he ended up in the Dulles dog-house. Dulles, who was strong for the oil companies, was sympathetic to Nasser.

Allen, however, as early as last year, opposed the loan to Egypt for the Aswan dam. Later he advised taking the calculated risk of withdrawing it. He won his point only after Nasser recognized Red China, which not only made Dulles sore, but antagonized the China lobby senators.

Though Allen's policy won out, he has been transferred to Greece as ambassador. Ambassador Byroade, who has now confessed that he was all wet regarding Nasser, has been "sent into exile" as ambassador to South Africa.

AT THE DIAPER DERBY, THEY'RE OFF!—Breaking from the starting gate, tiny tots race out in the 18th annual "world championship" baby crawling contest at Palisades Park, N. J. A number of toys, drawn in front of the babies, were used to add to the speed of the competition. This year's winner was the "Jersey Jet," 11-month-old Robert Obringer, from North Bergen, N. J. The new champ covered the 60-foot course in 27.6 seconds. Robert won't be able to defend his crown next year, however, for he'll have outgrown the crawling stage.

War II Veterans Get Extra Year to Apply for GI Loans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Veterans of World War II now have an extra year in which to apply for GI loans to buy homes, farms or businesses.

Under legislation signed by President Eisenhower the privilege, which was to have expired next July 25, is continued 12 months.

Another provision of the new law in effect boosts the extension to about 18 months.

Miss Linda Sue Sellers Becomes Bride of James Floyd Middleton

The Olive Baptist church in Pope county was the scene for a beautiful wedding on Saturday, July 28, at 1:30 p. m. when Miss Linda Sue Sellers, became the bride of James Floyd Middleton. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Sellers of Stonefort, Star Route, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorander Middleton of Chicago Heights, Ill.

The bride was escorted by her father to the altar where the Rev. John W. Henson of Golconda performed the double ring ceremony. Their only attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Browning, uncle and aunt of the bride and groom.

A girls' trio sang "I Love You Truly."

The bride was lovely in a floor-length gown of white lace net, the fitted bodice designed with scalloped neck and long tapered sleeves which came to a point at the wrist. The full skirt was of white net over white nylon and her finger tip veil of illusion was held in place by a tiara set with seed pearls. She wore a three-strand necklace of pearls, gift of the bridegroom, and her bouquet was of white carnations and white satin ribbon with knotted streamers of white ribbon. After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of her parents, where the couple opened the many nice gifts presented to them.

A beautiful three-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and groom, was served to Mr. and Mrs. Lorander Middleton and daughter, Mary Lou, and niece, Wanda Jean Middleton, Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Browning and children, Shirley and Floyd, all of Chicago Heights, Ill., Rev. John W. Henson, Fred Adams and daughter, Fay, Bonnie Jo and Carol Robinson of Golconda;

Mrs. Joe Patten and children, Shirley, Philip and Gordon, Edenville; Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Browning and sons, Billie and Rickie, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brown, and Mrs. Ona Kincheol, all of Harrisburg; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stapleton, Mrs. Stines, Mrs. Myrtle Lauderdale and daughters, Evelyn, Mildred and Helen, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brent, all of Stonefort;

Mrs. Melissa Johnson, Mrs. Mabel Johnson, Mrs. Effie Hamilton, and Mrs. Nellie Sweat, all of Carrier Mills.

After a short wedding trip in the south, the newlyweds will return to live in Chicago Heights where both are employed.

Mrs. Middleton is secretary at the St. James hospital and he is employed at Trim Steel.

Mrs. Ella Mitchell and her daughter, Mrs. Harry Ruple, plan to leave Monday for Pontiac, and Lake Orion, Mich., where they will visit Mrs. Mitchell's brother, David Potts, and her son, Billy Bramlet, in Pontiac, and Mrs. Ruple's son, also named Billy Bramlet in Lake Orion.

25 in Beauty Competition

The autos paraded around the track during intermission of the Beauty Contest.

There were 25 beautiful young ladies competing for the title of Miss Saline County. The girls first made their appearance before the large crowd riding in open convertibles.

Then each girl appeared individually in formal dress, being introduced by Richard Webb, chairman of the Jaycee-sponsored contest.

Then the girls changed to bathing suits, again were presented to the crowd in the open automobiles, later appeared on the stage in bathing suits.

Rites in Chicago For Daughter of Joseph Schalasky

Funeral services were held at Holy Cross church in Chicago this morning for Mrs. Anne Masse, former resident, who died Monday, July 30, at Billings hospital in Chicago. Burial was in St. Casimir cemetery in Chicago.

She was born in Pennsylvania, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schalasky who moved to Harrisburg in 1912. Mr. Schalasky still resides here.

Mrs. Masse attended Horace Mann school and was married to Joseph Welp of Gaskins City, a first world war veteran, in March of 1924. In 1925 they moved to Chicago. Mr. Welp passed away July 5, 1939. They had two children: Joseph James and Virginia Welp.

In 1941 Mrs. Masse married Peter Masse of Chicago, who survives. Also surviving are: Her father, Joseph Schalasky of Harrisburg, her son and daughter; a brother, George, of Harrisburg, a brother, Joseph, of Chicago, and sisters: Mrs. Margaret Stasulis and Mrs. William (Nell) Welp, both of Chicago.

11 Flee from Iron Curtain to Freedom

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Eighteen Hungarians and three Czechs fled through the Iron Curtain to freedom here in the last 24 hours, setting a record for the period, Austrian authorities said today. The refugees said they fled to escape bad living conditions and "unbearable political pressure" in their Communist-dominated homelands.

AF X2 Rocket Streaks to 1900-Mile Hour Mark

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Air Force stainless steel X2 rocket plane has streaked over California at more than 1,900 miles an hour — an all-time high speed mark for piloted aircraft.

Authorities disclosed Thursday night that Lt. Col. Frank Everest, chief of flight test at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., set the speed mark July 25 in the X2 research airplane. He traveled almost three times the speed of sound.

The X2 was designed to investigate the so-called "thermal barrier" — the enormous heat generated on the skin of a high-speed airplane by air friction. Bell Aircraft Corp. built the plane.

Normal aluminum alloys would be dangerously weakened by the 600-degree temperatures generated by a 2,000 miles an hour velocity.

The X2 has a high stainless steel content which can withstand temperatures up to about 1,600 degrees. Friction would cause that temperature at about a 3,300 mile an hour speed.

Everest's speed can not be entered as a new world speed record because the flight was of short duration, was not clocked by official timers and the plane was carried aloft by a bomber and released at high altitude.

The present world speed record is 1,150 miles an hour. It was set over a measured course by a British experimental airplane.

Harriman Hits Moderation For Democrats

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Governor Harriman served notice on the national Democratic Party Thursday night that he regards himself as the heir-apparent of the Roosevelt and Truman political philosophy.

Rejecting "moderation" advanced by front-runner Adlai Stevenson, the governor told a $100,000 Harriman-For-President dinner that the path to victory in November was a slugging campaign against President Eisenhower and the "GOP old guard."

Harriman said former presidents Roosevelt and Truman were elected by turning down "take it easy" advice from the middle-of-the-roads of their time.

"Now, again, there are those who advise us to take it easy—who talk about moderation as the spirit of the times," he said. "For my part, as governor of New York — and as a Democrat — I reject these counsels. They are the counsels of defeat."

"Democrats of New York are going to remain true to the liberal principles and objectives that guided Franklin Roosevelt and Harry Truman. And we're going to Chicago to fight for them."

Harriman did not mention Stevenson by name, however. He also blasted the Eisenhower administration as "complacent" and said "we're going to take on candidate Eisenhower and beat him and his special interest team."

Margaret Chase Smith May Be Proposed for GOP Vice President

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, a 57-year-old silver-haired widow, may be placed in nomination for vice president at the Republican National Convention, political observers here said today.

Whether a grass roots boom would materialize, however, depended first on whether Mrs. Smith would consent to having her name placed in nomination, and secondly on the words "If feasible."

Mrs. Smith has said she is not a candidate for vice president, but she has not taken a position on having herself offered for the vice presidential nomination.

Stassen Says Nixon to Cost GOP 3.6 Million Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold E. Stassen said today Vice President Richard M. Nixon would cost the Republicans 3,600,000 votes as President Eisenhower's 1956 running mate.

Stassen told newsmen he based this figure on the assumption that the total presidential vote this year will be 60 million.

Report Hodge Attorney Offers Guilty Plea For Light Sentence

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Post-Dispatch reported today that the attorney for Orville E. Hodge, ousted Illinois state auditor, offered to enter a plea of guilty to charges of embezzlement and forgery in return for a light sentence.

The newspaper said State's Atty. George P. Courtrick at Springfield, Ill., rejected the offer, telling the attorney, Arthur M. Fitzgerald, "There will be no deals."

The Post-Dispatch said Fitzgerald made the offer in a secret 15-minute conference with Courtrick in Springfield.

Howard Colvin Dies Near Thompsonville

Howard Colvin, 58, died yesterday morning at his home west of Thompsonville.

He was a former resident of Winchester, Ill., having moved to Thompsonville about two months ago. He suffered a heart condition.

The body has been removed from the Courtney funeral home in Galatia to the Cunningham funeral home in Winchester. The funeral and burial will be Saturday at 10 a. m. in Winchester.

Survivors include his wife, Anna Mae, and three children, Eddie Lee, Nathan Allen and Sharon, all at home.

Illinois Legion Shouts Down Move to Take U. S. Out of United Nations

CHICAGO (AP) — Illinois legionnaires today shouted down a move to take the United States out of the United Nations.

The 38th annual convention of the American Legion's Illinois department rejected a resolution which asked Congress to approve a proposal calling for withdrawal of the United States from the U. N.

The convention referred to the national legion for study a resolution urging an immediate investigation of "all facts concerning alleged world government" and calling for possible withdrawal from the United Nations.

The legionnaires also were considering a resolution which would urge local posts to form anti-subversive activities committees.

A caucus by 3rd Division delegates, who by tradition pick the next senior vice commander, gave the nod to Anthony Badamo, Quincy taxicab fleet owner and World War I veteran.

The caucus named Badamo over Robert Nooner, Plymouth school principal. Both are former 3rd Division legion commanders.

The formal election of Badamo is scheduled Saturday. At the same time the convention is expected to elevate the present senior vice commander, Harold A. Cummins of Chicago, to the post of state commander succeeding Albert W. Leonard of De Kalb.

If tradition is followed, Badamo will be elected state commander in 1957.

The anti-subversive committee of the convention unanimously approved the anti-subversive committee formation resolution. Fear was expressed that local organizations may "go off on a tangent" in their probes, but the resolution was approved.

Other committee-approved resolutions urged withdrawal of U. S. support of the United Nations educational, social and cultural organization, amendment of the Smith Act so federal anti-subversive legislation won't be construed as superseding state laws on the subject; prohibition of expose-type magazines to Illinois minors, and support of the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act.

J. Addison Wagner, national American Legion commander, addressed the convention Thursday and blamed a Texas Democrat and the Defense and Treasury departments for the Senate failure to pass House-approved veterans benefits.

Wagner, Battle Creek, Mich., said Rep. Olin E. Teague, chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, "stalled" for five months before allowing his committee to report out bills on veterans benefits. These bills would have increased benefits for age and service-disabled World War I veterans.

He said the measure might have still won Senate approval in the closing weeks of the 84th Congress, after it was passed by the House, if the Defense and Treasury departments had "complied with a request for information" from the Senate Finance Committee.

The failure of these government agencies, Wagner said, "to provide this requested information amounted to a pocket veto" of this legislation.

Union, U. S. Steel To Sign Formal Contract Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union announced today it would sign a formal contract tonight with the U. S. Steel Corp., opening the way for an end to the 34-day strike of 650,000 workers.

Other steel companies involved in the work stoppage, third longest in the history of the industry, were expected to follow U. S. Steel's action.

Workers were expected to return to their jobs as soon as facilities were restored to conditions existing before the strike began.

A union announcement said the agreement with U. S. Steel would be signed at 6 p. m. CST.

The "inevitable" settlement of the nation's crippling steel strike has been delayed for days by "fine print," non-economic contract details.

Typhoon Hits Shanghai After Battering Okinawa

TOKYO (AP) — Typhoon Wanda destroyed or damaged 10,000 houses in Shanghai and damaged 80 percent of the vegetable crop, Radio Peiping reported today.

The season's greatest storm slammed into the Communist mainland Thursday after battering Okinawa and the Nationalist stronghold of Formosa.

Peiping said the fast-weakening typhoon was moving out into the Yellow Sea to die.

DON'T LET YOUR SUPPLEMENT HOLD BACK STILBESTROL PROFITS

Stilbestrol is a money-maker. Every test run by Purina Research with Steer Fatena has proved this point. But it's not a food nutrient. Stilbestrol replaces nothing at all in the ration. You still need the protein, vitamins, minerals... need 'em more than ever before because the cattle are probably gaining at a faster pace!

Purina tests show that stilbestrol returns an extra $10 to $15 per head. The only reason you feed a supplement is to help your grain and roughage make cheaper beef. Stilbestrol gives no reason for cutting back supplement quality or amount.

To get best results, Stilbestrol must be mixed right. Micro-Mixing assures proper blending in Purina Chows. You can be sure every animal will get the right amount of the growth booster.

Here are the results of nearly 3 years of work with stilbestrol rations at Purina, including experimental rations.

Average Daily Gain, Control lots, 2.37 lbs.

Average Daily Gain, Stilbestrol-fed lots, 2.65 lbs.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE 4-H CLUB FAIR WINNERS

Everyone at Godard's was glad to see the pictures in The Register of the 4-H club winners. Would like to say that they all used Purina chows, but we know that Charles Aydelotte of the Lucky Horseshoe club, and Leroy Gibbs, also of Equality did. Wasn't that a fine looking dairy cow that Charles Miller showed, and the one that Christine Tuttle showed. Would like to say that all those cute little 4-H girls had nibbled on Purina chow, because they sure were pretty in their outfits, but I guess they just live on sugar and spice and everything nice.

ORANS STARTED 104 CHICKS ON PURINA STARTEENA

And, guess what? Mr. and Mrs. Lee Oran, Raleigh, who started 104 chicks four weeks ago on Purina Starteena have still got 104 chicks and they average one pound of weight. How much Starteena have they eaten? Two hundred pounds. How's that for a good record?

Make drinking water safe with Chek-R-Tabs.

MRS. CLARA HATCHER'S CHICKS GAIN 2 1/2 LBS.

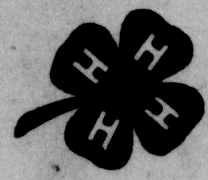

Mrs. Clara Hatcher's seven weeks old chicks, started on Purina Starteena and progressing rapidly to Purina Grower are pretty as a picture and at 7 weeks weighed 2 1/2 pounds apiece. That's the kind that make the best kind of eating. She lives on Harrisburg Rt. 2.

THIS IS A REAL SMUTTY BUT TRUE STORY

We're Starting to Do Something About the Nation's Old Folks

By KENNETH O. GILMORE
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Americans over age 65 are increasing their numbers twice as fast as the entire U. S. population.

This is the two-to-one ratio that has brought to the break-through point the pile-up of distressing human problems for old folks.

For in the last ten years persons over 65 have zoomed from 10 million to 14 million—a 40 per cent increase.

And experts estimate there will be 21 million old folks by 1975.

So, as never before elderly citizens are taking action, and their demands for a fair shake in the twilight of life are stirring up a grass roots rumble, say federal authorities.

High medical costs, employment discrimination, inadequate social security coverage, poor housing, loneliness, frustration and boredom are among the chief complaints.

Some experts refer to this development as a "quiet revolution." Others call it an "awakening."

In addition to the old folks themselves, other voices are speaking out, especially those of thousands of worried children who find they must share the burdens of their aging parents.

The din is definitely being heard by politicians here in the capital who keep an election year ear to the ground.

"Letter after letter brings me the problems of older people whose circumstances have left them unprotected for in our current programs," says Rep. Edith Green (D-Ore.), one member of Congress who has introduced legislation to establish a Bureau of Older Persons at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Government officials contend that such an agency is not necessary. They point to the Federal Council on Aging, recently established by the President to coordinate action on aging by all departments.

Further, they feel the ball is beginning to roll to give the aged more assistance. And they indicate that the break-through is not shaping into an organized political force or a pressure group for a federal pension system along the lines of the Townsend Plan.

There have been warnings, however. Speaking to the recent National Conference on Problems of STICKING TOGETHER: Golden Age Club members meet at luncheon. This and similar organizations throughout the nation mark the advances in handling old-age problem.

They're helping themselves

Aging held in Washington, New Jersey Gov. Robert Meyner said:

"As a practical aspect of this problem we must consider the possibility that the older group may be agitated into political action by our neglect and might vote into office men who made rash promises of financial help which could prove disastrous to our national economy."

Louis Rabin, Secretary of the Federal Council on Aging, sees the situation this way:

"The problems of the aged have accumulated to the point where they have touched off a reaction by thousands of individuals.

"More than anything else, older persons are demanding that they be kept in the mainstream of life. They don't want to be relegated into a separate class."

He further points out that some of the most insistent demands today come from the younger generation, which feels responsible for the older.

"What can I do for my father?" or "How do I help my mother?" are questions increasingly being thrown at welfare workers and politicians, says Rabin. Old folks are also taking matters into their own hands. Old age organizations have mushroomed in the last few years. The most familiar are Golden Age clubs, Senior Citizens groups, Sunset Years clubs and Silver Age clubs.

"These organizations are filling a social gap particularly for those who lose their family and friends," explains Rabin.

"Older persons are now becoming more and more aware of their needs, and they are doing something about it," says Clark Tibbitts, chairman of the Committee on Aging at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. He cites two examples.

In Cleveland, a Senior Citizens Council of retired business and professional men has laid out a retirement preparation program for older workers of the Republic Steel Corp.

In Los Angeles, a Senior Citizens

Weeks Sees 'Fresh Bounce' in Business

WASHINGTON (AP)—Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks predicted Thursday a "fresh bounce" in business following the imminent end of the steel strike.

But Weeks warned the "trend" involved in the steel wage award "obviously" will cause inflation if continued long enough. The steel wage hike was "substantially" higher than the increase in worker productivity, he added.

Weeks called on both management and labor to use "wise restraint" in pricing policies. "We all" must keep a "watchful eye" on the possibilities of inflation, he said.

Reds' Problem: Strong Arm Beats Strong Swing

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK (NEA)—George Robert Tebbetts has turned in a magnificent job with what little pitching he has in Cincinnati.

Without having been one of the smarter catchers, Birdie Tebbetts would know that the Reds can't take it all with not too much more than a lot of blokes belting the ball from Crosley Field to Dayton or thereabouts. Manager Tebbetts, the post-graduate college man schooled in the intricacies of major league play by Mickey Cochran, is, as would quite naturally follow, something of a baseball historian. He fully realizes that the strong arm will beat the strong swinging guy every time.

Going into the current eastern swing, and excluding Brooks Lawrence, only one Rhineland starter was above .500, and Johnny Klippstein's record was 8 and 6. Lawrence won 13 straight before losing, but the Springfield, O., Rifle required more rescue expeditions than there have been in the uppermost reaches of northwestern Canada in the winter time. The marks of the other Redleg starters were Joe Nuxhall, 7-8, and Art Fowler, 6-9.

This accounts for the 7-3 of relief worker Hersell Freeman, who goes with Lawrence like Lefty Gomez and Johnny Murphy, Gallagher and Shean, Martin and Lewis and Lawrence and Arabia.

DR. TEBBETTS EVEN won a key game from the Dodgers by starting Hal Jeffcoat, a reformed outfielder. He has skillfully patched up his wobbly staff with Joe

SCOREBOARD

Black and a newcomer, Don Gross.

Stacked against Tebbetts on the Milwaukee side is the very regular rotation of Bob Buhl, 12-4; Lew Burdette, 11-4; Ray Crone, 9-4; Warren Spahn, 9-7; and Gene Conley, 4-6.

The latter, hampered by arm trouble in the spring, could be the best of the lot. Spahn started slowly, but is rolling now. Bob Trowbridge is an extra hand and backing up the starters are the superlative relief workers, Dave Jolly and Ernie Johnson. Lou Sleater is an experienced left-hander and a newcomer named Phillips bobs up here and there.

While Tebbetts is looking desperately for pitching, all Fred Haney has to do is rotate his starters and bring in firemen when trouble starts. And the Braves have their full share of heavy artillery headed by Henry Aaron, Joe Adcock and Eddie Matthews.

A FOOTBALL TEAM has to have a running attack to set up its passing despite the professional version. And all the long distance hitting in 100 Babe Ruths and Mickey Mantles won't get a big league club anywhere without something that at least passes for pitching.

CHINA DOLL—Lillian Jung will compete in the United States Lawn Tennis Association's Diamond Jubilee Championships at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, Aug. 31-Sept. 9. She is the national Chinese mixed doubles title-holder and ranked third in the Chinese listing in this country.

Jackson's, VFW, Social Brethren Win in Kiwanis

By David Nelson

Jackson's Drugs defeated Gibbons, 8-3; VFW downed Crab Orchard, 4-1, and Social Brethren pounded the Braves, 19-4, in Kiwanis league play Thursday.

Jackson's scored four runs in the first as they led all the way in defeating Gibbons, 8-3. Both pitchers, Guley of Jackson's and Beal of Gibbons, allowed only five hits. Guley walked five while striking out four, and Beal walked three while downing five via strikes, but six errors by the Gibbons team made the difference. Guley led Jackson's at bat with a double and single, and Beal hit safely twice to lead the losers.

VFW tallied three times in a big fifth inning, to give them a 4-1 victory over Crab Orchard. Furlong hurled for the winners, pitching a four hitter and striking out 12 while walking 11. Anderson was on the hill for the losers and was touched for four runs on seven hits and one free pass, while striking out six. The leading hitters of the game were Furlong with a single and triple and Aldridge with a single and double.

Social Brethren broke loose with nine runs in the second inning and then duplicated that feat in the third as they slaughtered the Braves, 19-4. Agin, on the hill for the winners, twirled a 3-hitter and struck out eight while walking four. For the winners' attack E. Hagan, Agin, Carman and H. Hutchinson contributed two safe blows apiece while Howton singled twice for the Braves. Henshaw was the losing pitcher.

The number of radios in the United States increased from 51 million to 140 million in the past 10 years.

Nearly 6,500 students, most of them American servicemen studying in off-duty time, are enrolled in the University of Maryland's overseas program.

There are classic examples of this. In 1927, the Giants' infield was composed of Bill Terry, Rogers Hornsby, Travis Jackson and Freddie Lindstrom. In the outfield were Eddie Roush and Mel Ott, just beginning to swat the ball out of everybody's reach. That edition of celebrated Polo Grounders finished third.

The Phillies had vaunted swatters—Joe Hauser, Cy Williams, Lefty O'Doul, Chuck Klein and Don Hurst, among them—swinging for them in a bandbox park in the late 1920's and early '30's, but never were better than fourth.

With all their power since Tom Yawkey bought the franchise the Red Sox have won just one pennant—and that freshly removed from the war years—in 1946. The Giants manufactured 221 home runs for a record in 1947 and ran fourth.

As Dizzy Dean says, somebody has to get them guys out.

Newcombe Hurls Four-Hit Shutout Against Braves; Reds Also Gain; Cards Win

By United Press

At the rate he's going, big Don Newcombe can become Brooklyn's biggest winner since Dazzy Vance, but even more important from the Dodgers' point of view, he can become the man to pitch them right into the world series.

Newcombe spun a flashy four-hitter to lick the league-leading Milwaukee Braves, 3-0, Thursday for his 16th victory. It was his second straight shutout, and it extended his string of consecutive scoreless innings to 24.

The huge 242-pound right-hander now needs only seven more victories to become Brooklyn's biggest winner in a single season since Vance clicked off 28 conquests in 1924.

Latest Dodger Advance

Newcombe, who pitched the Dodgers to within two games of the league lead Thursday, feels he has a good chance to win at least 23 games this year.

Thursday, he struck out 10, walked none and allowed only two base runners to advance as far as second.

Ray Crone matched Newcombe's shutout pitching until the fourth inning when Carl Furillo smacked his 14th homer. Roy Campanella's two-run homer in the seventh clinched the game for the Dodgers.

Redlegs Move Up, Too

Cincinnati also gained on Milwaukee, climbing to within a game of the Braves with a one-sided 10-2 decision over the last-place Giants.

The Redlegs broke the game open when they routed Johnny Antonelli with a six-run burst in the seventh. Ray Jablonski's grand slam homer highlighted the frame while Stan Palys also homered during the uprising. Frank Robinson contributed his 25th homer to help rookie Tom Acker to his second victory.

Reliever Herm Wehmeier singled home two runs in the eighth inning as the Cardinals swept a three-game series with the Pirates, 7-5. Wehmeier came to Wilmer Mizell's aid in the second inning when Mizell injured his back. He picked up his sixth victory of the season and ran his lifetime record against Pittsburgh to 26 wins and 10 losses. Bob Friend suffered his 10th loss as the Pirates went down to their eighth straight setback.

Yankees Shut Out

The Phillies and Cubs were not scheduled.

The Cleveland Indians narrowed the Yankees' lead in the American League to seven games by beating the New Yorkers, 4-0, on southpaw Herb Score's four-hit pitching. Score struck out seven batters en route to his 11th victory. Loser Tom Sturdivant was nicked for homers by Bobby Avila, Preston Ward, Rocky Colavito and Chicago Carrasquel.

Jackie Jensen drove in nine runs with a homer, triple, single and sacrifice fly in leading the Red Sox to an 18-3 rout against the Tigers. Backed by a 15-hit attack, Willard Nixon coasted to his fifth victory even though he gave up 12 hits, including a homer by Al Kaline. Jensen's nine RBI's were only two short of the American League record held jointly by the late Tony Lazzeri of the Yankees and Rudy York, then with Boston.

A's Edge Orioles

A seventh inning single by Enos (Country) Slaughter broke up a 2-2 tie and gave Kansas City a 3-2 triumph over Baltimore. The Orioles built a 2-0 lead on homers by Willie Miranda and Gus Triandos but Harry Simpson's 17th homer with one on off loser Mike Fornieles tied the score in the seventh. Singles by Hee Lopez, Joe Ginsberg and Slaughter then produced the winning run. Jack Crimian was the winner in relief of Alex Kellner.

Less Moss connected for a three-run homer off Bob Wiesler in Chicago's 5-4 victory over Washington. Ellis Kinder, Chicago's third pitcher, gained the 100th victory of his big league career.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
Written for NEA Service

This is the biggest vacation year in American history. Nearly one hundred million people will travel in search of change and relaxation. After many months of routine activities which are generally desirable and satisfying, these normal folk accept the privilege of broadening their horizons.

They enjoy changing their outlook in preparation for continuing the task of good living and of serving their fellow men.

Some will find much that is unsatisfactory in their vacation experiences. They will want more attention than they have ever had in their lives. They will feel slighted, overcharged, underfed and mistreated.

The vast majority, however, will return from their travels tired of body but mentally refreshed and relaxed. Emotionally they will be well adjusted. They will be happy and overjoyed from their experiences. They will have pictures to show and memories to relate for many months to come.

In this vacation season many will broaden their spiritual horizons. They will take scores of opportunities to help other people. They will help strangers change tires, start stalled cars, and generally assist their fellow men.

We all need to see beyond the narrow confines of our own viewpoints as we broaden our spiritual horizons. We can all "grow in favor with God and man" as we express greater appreciation for God's gifts and as we serve more people with sincerity and affection.

Our vacations can refresh our spirits as well as our minds and bodies.

Carbondale Youths Enlist at Peoria to Avoid Parris Island

PEORIA, Ill. (UP)—Two youths came here from Carbondale to enlist in the Marines so they could avoid being sent to Parris Island, S. C., where six recruits drowned after being led into a creek by Sgt. Matthew McKeon, now being tried by a court-martial.

The boys, George D. Lybarger, 18, and James A. Seay, 18, both of Carbondale, told Peoria Marine recruiter Sgt. Eugene McGregor that "they're sending recruits from Carbondale to Parris Island, but you're sending them to San Diego." McGregor said this was correct. The two youths enlisted and left for Chicago to take physical examinations.

The Blonde Cried MURDER

By Brett Halliday

Copyright 1956 by Brett Halliday Distributed by NEA Service

THE STORY: A frightened woman has appeared at Mike Shayne's hotel. She tells the private detective she found her murdered brother in a room at the Hibiscus Hotel. When she went to call for help, the body disappeared and she was pursued by a scar-faced man. Mike gives the woman a note of introduction to his sweetheart and secretary, Lucy Hamilton.

X

At that moment there was the sound of loud footsteps in the hall outside. They stopped at his door and there was an authoritative knock.

She shuddered and cringed away from the door, staring at it as though she expected it to come crashing inward momentarily.

"It must be he! I knew he'd follow me here. Don't let him in. Please don't let him in."

Shayne started toward the door. She grabbed him and tried to hold him back as there was another knock and a harsh voice demanding, "Open up, Shayne."

"Please," she cried piteously, clinging to him. "I'll die if you let him in."

Shayne looked down at her curiously. Her face had gone all to pieces with terror. She clung to him limply as a rag doll.

Shayne put his hands on her shoulders and turned her about. "Go in the kitchen. There's a latch on the inside. Lock it and stay there until I call for you to come out." He gave her a gentle shove, stood there and watched her scurry back to the kitchen and close the door.

The knocking and demands for entrance continued at the front door, and he turned and stalked to it grimly, jerked it open to confront a tall young man with a scarred face who stood on the threshold.

The scar stood out pale and white against the suffused flesh of the man's cheek.

10:20 P. M.

The face, almost level with Shayne's, was red and contorted with anger or some other emotion, but it was not fearsome or hideous as the girl's description had led Shayne to expect. Indeed Shayne perceived it would have been a pleasant, almost handsome face of a well set-up man in his early 30's.

The scar ran diagonally from the left corner of his mouth upward to the point of a rather high cheekbone, and Shayne guessed that normally it would not draw too much attention.

Shayne stood flat-footed and immobile in the doorway, glowering at his visitor who moved to push forward, demanding furiously, "Where is she? What's happened to Nellie?"

Shayne put a big hand against the younger man's chest and pushed him backward. He growled, "You haven't been invited in. What do you mean by this ruckus?"

"You're Shayne aren't you?" The young man glared back at him defiantly and his hands balled into fists. "I'm coming in whether I'm invited or not, and no two-bit private dick is going to keep me out."

Shayne studied him speculatively, his gray eyes bleak and trenches deepening in his cheeks. He said, "Whenever you're ready to try your luck, bud."

For a long moment their eyes locked and held. The younger man's blood-shot and humid, Shayne's coldly challenging. Then with a supreme effort of will, his visitor forced his body to relax. He unbalanced his fists and said hoarsely, "I'm sorry I tried to barge in. I'm Bert Paulson and I'm so worried about Nellie I'm just about off my rocker."

"So that makes two of you," Shayne thought to himself. Aloud, he said, "That's better. Keep it that way and maybe we'll get along." He swung abruptly on his heel to let Paulson enter. He made no attempt to conceal the bottle of sherry and the glass the girl had used.

"So her name is Nellie?" said Shayne pleasantly. "Funny, but I just now realized she didn't tell me."

"Where is she? What's happened to her, Shayne? What made her act that way when she saw me?"

"She told me several things," Shayne dropped into a chair with his glass. "I assure you she's perfectly okay and I will produce her whenever you convince me it's safe to do so."

"Safe?" snorted Paulson angrily. "Why is she afraid of me?"

"Suppose you sit down and tell me."

With a lingering look at the three closed doors leading off the sitting room, Paulson sat stiffly on the edge of the chair in front of the redhead.

"I don't know. Unless she's really slipped a cog this time," Paulson's eyes burned into Shayne's. "Don't you see—"

"I don't see very much right now," Shayne interrupted him. "So far as I could tell she made at least as much sense as you do. Try to give me a coherent story."

"Did she tell you about screaming and running from me in the hotel the moment she saw my face?"

"And about you chasing her down the back stairs and through the alley, and how she escaped from you by hailing a cab. How'd you manage to trace her here?"

"I got the license number of the cab and found the driver and asked him. She knows I'd never do anything to harm her." Bert Paulson looked younger than his 30 years at that moment. Young and hurt and completely bewildered.

U. S. Veterans Have 38.5 Average Age

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Veterans Administration gives 38 1/2 as the average age of the more than 22,000,000 living U. S. war veterans.

At one end of the roll, the VA said, is a 109-year-old Civil War soldier, and at the other end are youths under 18.

The lone Civil War veteran is Albert Woolson, of Duluth, Minn., who was a drummer boy in the Nashville campaign. He is the sole survivor of 2,233,000 men who fought for the Union cause.

According to a VA survey, the estimated number of living veterans from the various wars and their average ages are:

Korean Conflict—4,346,000 veterans; average age 27.

World War II—15,391,000; average age 36 1/2.

World War I—3,105,000; average age 62.

Spanish-American War—68,000; average age 78 1/2.

Indian Wars—176 living veterans; average age 89.
